

Evans clinches Blues' third bonus

By MICHAEL KNOX Oxford City D, Wycombe 3

WYCOMBE picked up their third £40 bonus of the season when they swept aside the challenge of Oxford City in the White House ground mud on Tuesday night.

The sponsors of the Isthmian League, offer this bonus every time a side wins by three clear goals, without collecting a caution in the process. A goal in injury time by Dylan Evans clinched the money. It is ironic that two of the three bonuses have been away from home — at Enfield and now Oxford.

Because of illness and injury Wycombe were stretched to the limit of their resources on Tuesday night. In addition to their other problems, Stewart Atkins went down with influenza over the weekend, while John Maskell aggravated his back injury.

Evans came in for Atkins while the promising Way returned for his third game in goal. It was by far his best, too. He made a number of good saves and looked much more confident collecting crosses.

Mark Judd had to be brought down from Walsall, where he is on trial, to be substitute. His future is still in doubt but until the uncertainty is ended, he will turn out for Wycombe when required.

For the first 10 minutes it looked as though Oxford would overrun the visitors. With Mark Boyland a terrier in mid-field and the front runners finding plenty of room on the flanks, the Wycombe defence looked to be stretched.

Rhythm

But the Oxford shooting did not match up to the rest of their play and Blues gradually settled into a good rhythm. With the defence looking increasingly secure — the Keith Mead, Steve Hardwick combination has yet to concede a goal — Wanderers were able to push up with increasing certainty. Their first goal, however, owed something to a defensive mistake. Veteran John Woodley lost the ball in the mud, Steve Long gathered and fed Terry Scott.

What happened then, illustrated what an old head Scott has on young shoulders. He looked up, saw Dave Ounsworth rushing off his line and tried a delicate 20 yard chip which the goalkeeper could only help into the net. It was almost a replica of the goal he scored against City at Loakes Park on Boxing Day.

Ounsworth looked uncertain and needed the help of two defenders to clear two headers off the line from one corner. But he had no chance with Blues' next goal — a brilliant curling effort from just outside the penalty area by Steve Long who struck the ball perfectly.

Blues created numerous chances in the second half and it was perhaps because of all this activity that Ounsworth had to retire with a thigh injury. He was replaced by full back Martin Allen who covered himself in glory — and mud — with an excellent close range save from Long.

Indeed he did pretty well and looked like keeping a clean sheet until injury time, when Evans, who had missed some easier chances, struck the third goal after good work by Mick Hollifield on the left.

One unseemly aspect of the match were the aggressive tactics of the home side in the closing stages. Twice Judd, who had come on 10 minutes from the end for Long, was brought down by scything tackles by Andy Glass and Boyland. Both players were booked by referee Mr Smith, who generally enjoyed a good match.

Now for Dulwich

If they are to maintain their outside chance of snatching the Berger Isthmian League title, Wycombe Wanderers must win each of their remaining ten games.

The first of those ten and possibly the toughest comes tomorrow (Saturday) when they travel to face Dulwich Hamlet at Champion Hill.

Dulwich, who lost 1-0 at Loakes Park four weeks ago, are also on the fringe of the championship race after Tuesday's 2-1 defeat of Staines. Their goals came from Tony James and Ossie Bayram, who is one of the most exciting and orthodox forwards in the league.

Steve Hardwick was given a testing time in the first match but this time it will be Paul Birdseye who has the task of marking him.
